

Fang Li, M.D.
8 ]d`ca UHY`cZ5 6 DB

Certification in Neurology, and Sleep Medicine

Dr. Fang Li is a graduate of Beijing Medical University. She conducted post doctoral research at Johns Hopkins University and Barnes Hospital, Washington University after completing a neurology residency at the first teaching hospital, Beijing Medical University. She also completed her internship and neurology residence at Mayo Clinic in Rochester MN. Afterward, she joined Mclean County Neurology and has served Bloomington/Normal area since 1997.

Dr. Li has extensive experience in a broad range of neurological disorders and also specialized in sleep disorders including sleep apnea, restless leg syndrome, narcolepsy, parasomnias, and insomnia.

Dr. Li has been published in the Chinese Journal of Medicine, the Journal of Neurological Sciences, Neurology, and Advances in Neurology. She has also been a co-investigator on several clinical research projects involving stroke.